

Tulane Culinary Roundtable Retreat– San Antonio Texas – June 8-9 2016 – San Antonio Texas – Kudos on Accomplishments in This Week at WesternU

Dennis Muscato, MS, was an invited speaker at Tulane Culinary Medical Education Roundtable Retreat on June 8-9 in San Antonio, Texas. The course provides evidence-based strategies, experiential learning, and techniques in lifestyle change for health with medical students, community education, and patients. 14 medical schools were represented at the annual retreat. The presentation and discussion focused on the overall WU Lifestyle Medicine model that integrates the Tulane curriculum and Mentoring medical schools in achieving their own Lifestyle Medicine Education leadership. Dennis also serves on Tulane Culinary research committee to further advance the Culinary Medical Education evidence.

The Tulane curriculum and experiential education is implemented with our COMP-Northwest LM Track students in both Pomona and Lebanon, under the direction of Dr. Louise Muscato.

WesternU COMP and COMP-Northwest are recognized leaders in lifestyle medicine medical education. Dennis Muscato serves on leadership of LMed (www.LifestyleMedicineEducation.org) in mentoring medical schools globally in lifestyle medicine medical education.
